

Pay Increase Offered UAW

Six-Cents-An-Hour Plus Living Cost Allowances

DETROIT (AP) — General Motors Corp., Ford Motor Co. and Chrysler Corp., today offered the United Auto Workers new three-year contracts providing six-cent-an-hour wage increases in each year in addition to cost-of-living allowances.

The Big Three, presenting a united front also offered expanded fringe benefits and what they termed a new income guarantee to supplement pay in short work weeks for the nation's 490,000 auto workers.

Ford and Chrysler said their almost identical offers would expire automatically if not accepted fully at both the national and local union levels by Aug. 31, the date of expiration of current three-year contracts. GM, however, indicated it would be willing to negotiate changes in the basic pattern of the agreement.

The companies proposed hourly pay increases of 6 cents an hour each year or 2½ per cent of the employee's hourly base pay, whichever is greater.

They also proposed extra benefits for employees who, due to layoffs, work less than 36 hours in any week. The benefits would be one-half of the employee's straight time per hour for the difference between the hours he works in a week and a minimum 36 hours.

The Big Three also offered to increase maximum weekly Supplemental unemployment Benefits (SUB) from $30 to $35, and to make it easier for employees to apply for and receive benefits. SUB is an auto industry program under which the companies pay their workers an additional allowance to supplement what they receive in government unemployment compensation.

Ford, General Motors and Chrysler proposed "stabilizing" revisions with their offers to retain the cost-of-living allowance provided in current contracts. American Motors Corp. earlier had asked the union to abandon cost-of-living increases in return for a profit-sharing plan.

They proposed transfer of 12 cents of the present 17-cent cost-of-living allowance into the base wage of hourly rated employees.

House Approves Death Penalty For Hijacking

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has passed a bill carrying a death penalty for aircraft hijacking.

The measure, approved Monday by a 373-5 vote, is similar to one passed by the Senate. It would authorize the death penalty on recommendation of a jury when force, violence or threat of force or violence had been used to seize control of a plane.

Rep. William Fitz Ryan, D-N.Y., tried without success to have the death provision cut out. He argued that it would have "an adverse effect on the safety of passengers" by tending to make hijackers more reckless.

The legislation, triggered by a series of airliner hijackings, also sets out penalties for other disturbances aboard planes. An assault on a crew member, for instance, could bring a 20-year prison sentence and a $10,000 fine. Other sections prohibit carrying concealed weapons aboard an airliner and giving false reports of hijacking threats.

Eisler In Crowd

Adenauer Jeered On Morale Tour

BERLIN (AP)—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer toured the barricades between East and West Berlin on a morale-boosting visit today and was met with jeers from the Communist side.

The jeering at one point was led by Gerhardt Eisler, top East German propagandist who jumped the United States and fled to East Germany.

"There's only one way out, Konny," Eisler shouted at Adenauer across the barbed wire at Potsdamer Platz, once a major crossing point. "You'll have to deal with us."

The 85-year-old chancellor, impassive as an Indian chief, ignored Eisler and all the other Communist hecklers.

At other points, Communists from East Berlin jeered him from the wall they have built to divide the two parts of the city.

Communist loudspeaker trucks turned up at the Brandenburg Gate, once the chief crossing point, and blared at Adenauer.

"We acted but you did nothing," they said.

The Communists made so much noise that nothing the chancellor said could be heard except by those closest to him. He did not attempt to make any speech.

Adenauer, chief of the Christian Democratic party, was met at the airport by West Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt, his Socialist opponent in West German elections next month.

His visit was his first since the Communists closed the border between East and West Berlin on Aug. 13 to stop the flow of refugees and commuters to the West.

Adenauer's opponents in West Berlin have criticized him for delaying his visit until the tension had begun to subside.

Signs displayed at the arrival last weekend of U.S. Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson, emphasizing Adenauer's delay, said "Washington is closer than Bonn."

The court-martial, at Stewart Air Force Base, will consider charges that Banks failed to keep himself advised of the threats of the storm in which the tower collapsed, to keep in touch with the officer in charge of the tower, and to hold himself in readiness for any action necessary to rescue the men on it.

The tower that collapsed was one of three set up off the Atlantic seaboard to sound warning of a possible enemy air attack. The structure, with legs made fast to the ocean bottom, supported radar equipment and the crew manning it.

The tower—called "Old Shaky" by some of its personnel—was struck by a violent storm. Radio contact was lost.

GEORGETOWN, British Guiana (AP)—Cheddi Jagan, 43, a Marxist-admirer of Fidel Castro promising a foreign policy of active neutralism, was returned to power for four more years today in Britain's only South American colony.

Returns from Monday's general election gave Jagan's Communist-leaning People's Progressive Party (PPP) 19 of 35 seats in the new legislature, and at least two of the five unreported constituencies were expected to be added to the East Indian dentist's majority.

The Negro-dominated People's National Congress led by Forbes Burnham won nine seats and Peter Daguaiar's conservative, anti-Communist United Force won two.

The British ousted a government headed by Jagan in 1953, charging that he was planning to establish a Communist beachhead on South America's north coast flanking the Panama Canal. In elections in 1957 the PPP won 9 of the 14 legislative council seats and Jagan became minister of industry, a post equivalent to premier under British governor Sir Ralph Grey.

Jagan was expected to come to Georgetown today from his inland home district to accept Grey's invitation to become British Guiana's first premier in name as well as fact.

Legislators, St. Louisans, MFA Members to Fair Today

Rain Cancels Grandstand Show; Races Postponed

Today is a big day on the Missouri State Fair grounds when State Legislators will be in the shadows of the limelight of 24 beautiful Fair Queens. Today these 24 young ladies enter the first part of the judging for the Queen of Fairs title.

It is Legislators', Missouri Farmers Association, and St. Louis Day at the 59th annual exposition of the Missouri fair. State Fair officials announced more than a majority of Representatives and State Senators have sent word they would be on the grounds during "their day."

St. Louis didn't schedule their special train to the fair as was done for many years in the past, but there were numerous St. Louis people on the grounds circulating through the exhibits and attending the races. As a result of the cancellation of the special, more Missouri citizens from the Eastern side of the state came to the fair earlier in the day.

The night grandstand show, the State Fair Review of 1961, was cancelled by rain last night.

However, the rain gave boost to the horseshow attendance. The horseshow is being held in the coliseum.

A large crowd stayed on the midway, which continued operations in spite of the rain, and fairgoers took to the covered rides and tent shows.

The program Monday was "Typical" Farm Family and Kids' Day at the fair. Of the 109 families who accepted invitations to visit the fair 98 families representing 430 persons attended.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Whistle and family of four children traveled the greatest distance to the fair, from Scott County, 350 miles. Second honors went to Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence McBryde, Cape Girardeau County, and four children, 268 miles.

The longest married couple was Mr. and Mrs. Ed Weaver, Oregon

Races Postponed

The second day of Grand Circuit Harness racing, scheduled to begin at 1:30 p.m. today, had to be postponed due to rain.

W. H. Ritzenthaler, fair secretary, announced that today's races have been scheduled to begin at 11 a.m. tomorrow. Immediately following this event the Wednesday races, featuring the Hambletonian Preview, will be run as scheduled. If possible, this double event will be completed by 5 p.m. Wednesday in order to allow time to prepare for the night show.

In place of this afternoon's races a free variety show for all fairgoers was scheduled at the grandstand.

No announcement was made as to a change in time for the State Fair Revue of 1961, set to start tonight at 7:30, so the night show will run as scheduled, weather permitting.

County, 45 years, and second was Mr. and Mrs. Harry L. Sickenthaler, Taney County, 44 years.

Three families of nine, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Kloppe, Franklin County; Mr. and Mrs. Ivo Franks, Cole County; and Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Kjar, Dallas County. The Kjar family could have won but they left one of their eight children at home.

High school bands on the grounds Monday were from Brunswick, El Dorado Springs, Marshfield, Smithton, Harrisonville and Eldon.

Bands here today are from Brookfield, Higginsville, Fatama

'In View of Situation'

Air Route Pact With Reds Out

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy, "in view of the international situation," has broken off plans for signing a commercial air agreement which had been worked out with the Soviet Union.

The surprise move was announced by the State Department Monday night after a month of quiet talks on the long-proposed air route joining New York and Moscow.

The State Department said "in view of the international situation, for which the U.S. government is not responsible, this government has decided that this is not an appropriate time to sign a civil air transport agreement."

State Department press officer Lincoln White said that if the international situation changes "that would be a different kettle of fish."

Soviet reaction—so far—has been mild. The Soviet Union's civil air chief, Col. Gen. Yevgeni F. Loginov, voiced regrets at the last-minute U.S. turnaround which he said "cannot be regarded as a step towards improving" U.S.-Soviet relations.

Loginov said he planned to return to the Soviet Union today and it would be up to Washington whether an agreement will be signed later.

Presidential adviser James M. Landis headed the U.S. group in the air route discussions which started July 18.

But when it came to signing, the Americans insisted they would only inscribe their initials. That way the agreement remains on ice until the governments formally sign. So, Loginov just initialed, too.

Likewise put into the freezer was a side agreement that had been worked out by the two airlines which were supposed to fly the New York-Moscow run, Pan American Airways for the United States and Aeroflot, the Soviet government-owned civil airline.

This is the second time the air route has become a cold war casualty. Last summer, just before negotiations were to begin, the Eisenhower administration cancelled them in the aftermath of the U2 spy plane incident and the Soviet downing of an American RB47 reconnaissance plane.

Kennedy revived the air talks in his post-inauguration search for ways of bettering East-West relations.

Abandon Effort To Pass Bill On Civil Rights

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Senate leaders today abandoned, for the time being at least their effort to pass legislation extending the life of the Civil Rights Commission for two years.

They gave up on their maneuver to hook the bill onto a $761-million appropriation measure for the State and Justice departments in the face of a tangled parliamentary situation. The snarl threatened to delay other Senate business.

Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana moved that the Senate lay aside the appropriation bill, and the proposed civil rights riders, and take up a military construction measure.

The tangle was created mainly by proposals to hitch onto the bill a batch of other civil rights riders, and stiff opposition to that from Southern members.

Also, those who will certify to the referendum committee that they will plant in excess of 13.5 acres in 1961 for harvest in 1962 are eligible, it was reported.

The temperature one year ago today was, high 93; low 64; two years ago, high 93; low 71; three years ago, high 80; low 57.

Lake of Ozark stage: 56.8 feet; 3.2 below full reservoir; no change.

Youngster Drowns In Lake of Ozarks

OSAGE BEACH, Mo. (AP) — Kenneth Martin Burns Jr., 9, of Brookfield, Mo., drowned in the Lake of the Ozarks Monday.

The highway patrol said the lad was swimming across a small cove near Camp Jeff-Fay with three other boys. They made it but he went under.

The body was recovered 45 minutes later. Trooper Jim Barks administered artificial respiration but when a doctor arrived the boy was dead.

Leonard V. Porter

One-Armed Violin Maker Wins Woodcarving Ribbon

Take away one arm, add a long list of awards for woodcarving merit and you have a champion violin maker in the person of Leonard V. Porter, a former area resident now living in Independence.

For a man with little musical talent to embark on the making of a beautiful and delicate instrument is unusual enough, but Porter replaced his lack of musical aptitude with a highly developed woodcarving skill and produces violins that to amateur musicians can't be distinguished from expensive factory-made models.

A long string of ribbons have gone to Porter's violins, including special woodcarving trophies from two science and mechanics magazines and the Albert Constantine award, an international woodcarving award.

His latest achievement is a blue ribbon in the woodcarving division of the Arts and Hobbies competition at the Missouri State Fair. This ribbon at the fair is a repeat performance of last year when his violins took first in a different division. This year Porter picked up another state fair blue ribbon with his collection of awards and trophies received by the violin.

Porter, 75, who originally lived southeast of Sedalia, is retired and has been living at 2102 Sterling in Independence for three years. Working in a shop in his garage, he has produced 12 violins and is working on three more at the present time.

Missing his left arm since 1913, Porter explains the limb was lost in a well drilling accident. Relatives say losing the arm failed

Moniteau County Represented At Fair by 4-H's

Peggy Lou Koechner and Andrea Yost, both members of the Flying Eagles 4-H Club, will represent Moniteau County in the 4-H Electric Theater in the 4-H building at the Missouri State Fair Friday, Aug. 25. Peggy Lou will give a demonstration on "How to Space Stitch Fabric on Grain." This demonstration features the use of a sewing machine.

Donald Yost, also a member of the Flying Eagles 4-H Club, will enter the 4-H Tractor Operator's contest Aug. 25. Donald was chosen to represent Moniteau County as a result of being the winner in the District Tractor Operator's contest held in connection with the Cole County Fair. Tractor operator's contests are scored like golf, low score wins. In the Jefferson City contest, Donald had an exceptionally low score of 490. A contestant, if they used all of their time on the two driving events and had no points off for the safety and question part of the contest, would have a score of 720.

Darrel Stoecklein, also of the Flying Eagles 4-H Club was third in the District contest. Donald received a $25 bond as first prize, and Darrel, 11 gallons of motor oil as third prize. David and Dale Ratcliff of the Red Brush 4-H Club, also participated in this event.

Four 4-H members attended the District 4-H Livestock and Dairy Judging contest on Aug. 21, at the Missouri State Fair. They were: Robert Rowles, Kenneth Howard, David Bleich, David Mertens participated in the Dairy Judging Contest. These boys were chosen from the County 4-H livestock judging contest conducted at the farms of Don Koechner, Charles Stephens and O. N. Roth, on Aug. 15, and the dairy judging contest at the Don Strobel farm on Aug. 16.

Carol Calhoun, a member of the Red Brush 4-H Club, is assisting at the Home Economics Building under the supervision of Mrs. Ewing Clay, superintendent of the Home Economics Building. The Rainbow Workers 4-H Club of High Point, prepared an educational display on "Recreation" in the 4-H Building at the State Fair. This year Moniteau County had 43 different 4-H boys and girls sending 70 individual exhibits to the Missouri State Fair.

4-H Exhibitors Show Jersey Cattle Breeds
4-H exhibitors showed Jersey, Guernsey, Holstein, Brown Swiss and Milking Shorthorn dairy cattle at the Missouri State Fair. It took the entire day to judge the 4-H dairy exhibits.

Individual exhibitors were judged on their showmanship abilities while their animals were under the judges eye. The showmanship awards did not influence the placing of the animals. The number one Jersey showman is John Estes, Clever, Mo. Mary Ann Frank, Jefferson City was judged the top Holstein showman and Noel Vieten got the Guernsey showmanship award.

Gold, silver and bronze ribbons were awarded owners of competing animals.

Bringing Up Baby.

HINTS COLLECTED BY MRS. DAN GERBER, MOTHER OF 5

If a baby is slow to walk, a mother may feel it's a reflection on the intelligence of the child. Not so, say those in the know. Walking early has nothing to do with intelligence. Baby will walk when his muscles are ready, his spirit willing. Important to remember that walking is definitely related to a child's temperament. The placid baby is apt to be content to sit it out longer than a rarin'-to-go baby.

Starting gadabouts will find way-faring easier if feet and ankles are supported by good shoes with wide, firm soles and pliable uppers.

Traveling toddlers like their menus brought to life with Gerber Junior Foods. That's because they're seasoned in semi-grown-up fashion and even mimicked for easy chewing. Variety galore and plenty of delightful flavors in store for bright-eyed eager beavers. Like all Gerber Baby Foods, they're prepared by specialists who are wise in the ways of infant nutrition. Over 40 choices.

Double duty division. A toddler's wagon can also serve as a storage bin for small toys. You can teach your wanderer his first lesson in neatness by making a game of putting toys away, using the wagon as a collector.

Toddler delight. Most toddlers (and babies) love Gerber High Protein Cereal because of its toasty, tasty, nut-like flavor. And little bodies benefit mightily because it has 35% protein to aid your baby's growth and muscle development. In addition, this nourishing cereal is enriched with iron, important B-vitamins and calcium. Gerber Baby Foods, Fremont, Michigan.

A Gilman City, Mo. youth showed two Poland China Champions in FFA swine competition at the Missouri State Fair. Mickey Ratliff showed the Champion Sow and Barrow. The Champion Sow was exhibited by Gordon Sherwood, Edgerton, Mo. Judging was by Francis Callahan, Chicago, Ill.

Poland China Swine Numbers Increased
Poland China swine numbers were increased fully 60 per cent over last year at the Missouri State Fair. Though not the largest number of swine exhibited in any breed, the percentage increase in Poland China entries is the largest of any breed in this year's competition.

Grand Champion Barrow was shown by N. L. Farmer, Platte City, Mo., while the Grand Champion Sow was an entry of Wayne Bates, Carlinville, Ill. The Champion Barrow was the entry of Mickey Ratliff, Gilman City, Mo. Judging the event was Francis Callahan, Chicago, Ill.

Bringing Up Baby.

HINTS COLLECTED BY MRS. DAN GERBER, MOTHER OF 5

If a baby is slow to walk, a mother may feel it's a reflection on the intelligence of the child. Not so, say those in the know. Walking early has nothing to do with intelligence. Baby will walk when his muscles are ready, his spirit willing. Important to remember that walking is definitely related to a child's temperament. The placid baby is apt to be content to sit it out longer than a rarin'-to-go baby.

Starting gadabouts will find way-faring easier if feet and ankles are supported by good shoes with wide, firm soles and pliable uppers.

Traveling toddlers like their menus brought to life with Gerber Junior Foods. That's because they're seasoned in semi-grown-up fashion and even mimicked for easy chewing. Variety galore and plenty of delightful flavors in store for bright-eyed eager beavers. Like all Gerber Baby Foods, they're prepared by specialists who are wise in the ways of infant nutrition. Over 40 choices.

Double duty division. A toddler's wagon can also serve as a storage bin for small toys. You can teach your wanderer his first lesson in neatness by making a game of putting toys away, using the wagon as a collector.

Toddler delight. Most toddlers (and babies) love Gerber High Protein Cereal because of its toasty, tasty, nut-like flavor. And little bodies benefit mightily because it has 35% protein to aid your baby's growth and muscle development. In addition, this nourishing cereal is enriched with iron, important B-vitamins and calcium. Gerber Baby Foods, Fremont, Michigan.

Famed Trio No Longer Just a Duo

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The Kingston Duo have found a new boy, and now they're a trio again.

If you are at all hep with the pop music field—or are under 21—you know about the Kingston Trio's problems. This swinging bunch of folk singers has been earning a million dollars a year but found that money didn't buy happiness.

Matter of fact, they are miserable. Their troubles broke into print four months ago with Dave Guard ("our acknowledged leader") claiming his partners were clods who didn't want to climb upward and upward with the act. Bob Shane ("our sex symbol") and Nick Reynolds ("the runt of the litter") countered that Guard was a tyrant who tampered with the trio's success formula.

Last week their batteries of lawyers worked out a solution: Guard will go his own way with a new group; Shane and Reynolds will carry on the Kingston name with a new partner.

He is a nice-looking, rangy lad of 26 named John Stewart, born in San Diego and reared in Pomona, Calif. I dropped in to watch a first-recording session with the new boy at Capitol Records, for which the trio is a gilt-edged security.

"Yes, it's all over," said Nick, the short, wry one. "We had to give up the secret grip. And he (Guard) had to turn in his striped shirts. We tore off the epaulettes and sliced off the buttons with a sword."

How did they find Stewart?

"Funny thing," Nick said. "We were playing at the Coconut Grove here, and Johnny came in with a couple of songs he had written. They were just what we needed."

John had first met the boys at the county fair in Pomona, but they didn't remember. He had been part of another folk music group called the Cumberland Three, which toured with Shelley Berman and enjoyed faint success.

"I even tried a 'n' roll," said John. "I was a complete failure. Even my family wouldn't buy the record."

He has been working with the boys for a month and has helped put joy back into the act. As they prepared to record, the three twanged their guitars and sang lustily, just for kicks.

"We never did this before," Nick said. "There was always too much tension. Now we're having fun."

John Stewart, who is married and whose wife is expecting a baby, looks "in." Poor lad, now he'll have to start thinking about business management, tax structures and real estate investment.

What Words Can't Say

Photographs coming from Berlin prove again the observation of the Chinese sage. They tell more, much more, than the thousands of words emanating from that divided city.

One picture shows an elderly East German couple being escorted away from a barbed wire barrier by a soldier. Their faces are not visible, but their hunched-over figures are more expressive of their emotions than any words.

Another shows a defecting East German soldier, still carrying his gun, in the act of leaping over the barbed wire into West Berlin.

Still another picture, taken from this side of the barbed wire, shows two armed East German soldiers. But one's attention is centered on the background where, standing quietly, are a man and woman and little boy.

What the real thoughts of these people are, no one knows, but it is easy to imagine. And the imagining cannot be too far from the truth. For the Soviet clamp-down on the border crossings has proved that those who still remain in East Berlin are less than contented with their fate.

Photographs like these do more than any ringing accusations or list of figures to show uncommitted nations what the Communists mean by "freedom" and "democracy." They do more than any high-sounding pronouncements to show the neutral world what it is that we are defending in Berlin.

It is not merely certain legal rights specified in treaties. It is the right of all peoples, the West Berliners in this case, to self-determination.

It is sometimes forgotten that the population of West Berlin—2.5 million—is greater than that of 33 members of the United Nations. The production of these people exceeds that of 58 UN members.

Berlin may once have been just another city, but it is far more than that today.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Caroline Eases Daddy's Pressures

(Editor's Note: While Drew Pearson is in Russia to cover the current crisis, his associate, Jack Anderson, is covering the Washington front.)

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON—President Kennedy's phone had been buzzing the other day with calls of state. When it rang again, he reached for the receiver with a reflex motion. Suddenly his crisp, taut voice changed to a playful, teasing tone.

"Somebody walked past the door just now," he was heard to say. "Can you guess who it is? Pushinka is asking where, oh where is Caroline? Is Caroline playing with Charlie? Pushinka wants to know."

The President, of course, was talking to his three-year-old daughter. Pushinka is the fluffy black-and-white mutt which Premier Khrushchev presented to Caroline. Charlie is the rough-haired Terrier that came to the White House with the Kennedys.

The incident gives an insight into the White House which is not only headquarters for the free world but the home of a lively little girl and her baby brother.

Caroline often escorts her father to his office after breakfast. As he begins to sort his papers, she wanders off for a call on the President's personal secretary, Mrs. Evelyn Lincoln.

"Draw me a picture," Caroline invariably will ask. Usually she will specify a house, horse, or cat. She also expects all adults to be as skillful as her artistically accomplished mother, who enjoys drawing sketches for Caroline.

Result: Caroline is a critic. A house must have a chimney, complete with smoke curling from it. A pussycat must have whiskers.

Former President Eisenhower's putting green has now been turned into a playground for Caroline. The squirrels that used to annoy Ike by chasing his golf balls delight little Caroline but cause her parents concern.

For the peanuts that tourists toss to the squirrels have lured sewer rats onto the White

Amateurish Antics

Someone once wrote that Britain's wars were won on the playing fields of Eton. If one is to judge by the carryings on of some of America's top young tennis stars these days, the only battle they are fitting themselves to win is perhaps a tantrum with Khrushchev.

A report from Newport, R.I.—one of the hallowed stadia of the tennis world—says "a number of players were warned on their court conduct. . . . Bad manners have become increasingly evident this season. Gripping, swearing, moaning over the loss of points and the throwing of racquets are getting commonplace. . . . Never were poor sportsmanship and bad temper so rampant."

Guest Editorial

HANNIBAL COURIER-POST: New Blow to Secrecy.—Missouri's open records policy received a strong boost recently when Gov. John M. Dalton signed a measure relating to open public records and providing penalties for public officials who violate it.

The measure, which was passed by the 71st General Assembly, states that except for otherwise provided by law, all state, county and municipal records kept pursuant to statute or ordinance shall at all reasonable times be open for personal inspection by any citizen of Missouri.

And it further states that those in charge of such records shall not refuse the right to any citizen. Any official who violates provisions of the measure by refusing this right is subject to removal or impeachment and in addition shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction is subject to fine or jail sentence or both.

Most fittingly, the measure is known informally as the "Thomas C. Hennings, Jr., Memorial Statue" in honor of the late Missouri senator's work for freedom of information—a cause which he battled for strongly at all levels of government.

The measure is a strong blow for freedom of information in Missouri. Unfortunately, again the Legislature failed to take any action toward making juvenile records available to the news media.

We feel strongly that the news media should be able to make the decision concerning the use of juvenile names in news stories involving young law breakers.

It is to be hoped that the next session of the Legislature will give this matter more thought than did the 70th and 71st sessions.

House lawn. If one should be infected with rabies, it might bite a squirrel.

White House workmen have sprayed rat poisons into the sewer drains to curb the rat menace; both Charlie and Pushinka have been given rabies shots; and Caroline is watched constantly.

Khrushchev on Elections

The American embassy has reported from Moscow that Premier Khrushchev appears to be edgy over the way the Berlin crisis is developing, particularly afraid of an anti-Communist revolt in East Germany.

He cancelled two receptions last week in order to keep in close touch with events.

Meanwhile, disarmament ambassador John McCloy reported to President Kennedy after talking with Khrushchev that the Soviet dictator seemed irrational. He was most infuriated over the President's reference to Stalingrad in his Berlin speech, McCloy said.

Khrushchev stormed that Kennedy had taken one of the Soviets' great heroic battles and twisted it against them.

McCloy tried to talk the blustery old dictator into holding off any precipitous action on Berlin until after the Sept. 17 elections.

"Elections! Elections!" Khrushchev exploded. "That's what you always tell me. I waited for the American elections. Now you want me to wait for the German elections. Next it will be the Italian elections and then the French elections."

Not long afterward, he clanked the Iron Curtain shut on German refugees.

Check Those Wires!

It is a little disconcerting to read that President Kennedy got a telephone call the other day which was intended for a fellow who runs an animal hospital in Virginia. We had always thought the White House ran a pretty tight screening operation at the switchboard.

You've heard, no doubt, of that gold telephone in the President's office. That's the one he is supposed to pick up only to confer on pushing the war button—and announcing his decision. All the key operating military points are hooked in, to get the word instantly.

Maybe they ought to give the gold network a bit of trial run or make sure no stray veterinarians are tied into the system somewhere along the line.

It Was a Fun War?

The Civil War is deeply engraved on this nation's memory, and it is wholly fitting that this most painful ordeal should be taken note of in centennial observance.

Yet it is one thing to rekindle the remembrance of this event, to revisit old battle-grounds steeped in history. It is quite another to recreate the war itself, as if in celebration.

Bruce Catton, noted Civil War historian, writes in the current American Heritage that such exhibitions threaten to take on a "strawberry festival" air. "Borrowed costumes, old time music and. . . blank cartridges" could destroy the war's sober meaning for a people still in process of healing the great wounds.

What Catton says makes extremely good sense in this commemorating year.

Rule to Be Broken

One of the requirements for a private pilot's license is to navigate a preplanned course from one airport to another 100 miles away.

This made things somewhat difficult for prospective pilots among U.S. personnel on Okinawa. The island is only 62 miles long and its two airports are only 40 miles apart.

Contrary to what one might predict, bureaucracy proved equal to the problem. Instead of requiring two and a half trips between the airports, the Federal Aviation Agency simply granted an exemption to the 100-mile rule.

If pilots can make the 40 miles, they're considered qualified and not likely to get lost on Okinawa.

Feudal Futility

Anthony Wedgewood Benn has lost his fight to be called just plain "mister." He was elected to a seat in the House of Commons, Britain's lawmaking body, but was declared ineligible because he had previously become "Lord Stansgate" upon the death of his father. Benn refused to accept the title and ran away.

This is an instance where being a member of the "privileged" class is a loss of privilege. Thus Benn—that is, his lordship—is denied a right open to even the most unpedigreed commoner. And the wishes of his constituents have been overridden, to boot.

Berlin—A Toothache for Khrushchev

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — It may seem unbelievable but after months of East-West shouting and maneuvering over Berlin this one main point still isn't clear: What's really driving Premier Khrushchev in all this? Why does he consider it a "toothache" and a bone in his throat?

There are plenty of ideas on it — such as pressure from his partners in the Kremlin, pressure from the East Germans, and so on—but so far as is publicly known they're guesses and perhaps not even good ones.

The answer may be much simpler — that Khrushchev, as the leader of communism, considers it necessary and the time right to start shutting West Berlin off from the West—once the background is considered.

Since 1945 communism has been able to take over mainland China, North Korea, North Viet Nam, Estonia, Lithuania, Latvia, Poland, Romania, Bulgaria, Hungary, Albania, Czechoslovakia, East Germany and East Berlin.

But here is West Berlin which the Communists haven't been able to absorb even though it lies 110 miles inside Communist East Germany, has 12,500 Allied troops there, and a 2½ million anti-Communist population devoted to the West.

This makes it a Western and capitalist island in a Communist ocean. Worse still, from the Communist view, West Berlin's brilliant economic success makes it a shining contrast to the drab Communist world around it.

So long as it stands free—deep inside the Communist world—it is a constant reminder to Khrushchev and his partners that their threat to communize the world looks absurd.

So, without trying to figure who's twisting Khrushchev's arm to seal off West Berlin, it's easier and perhaps more sensible to assume he or anyone else who happened to be leading the Communist world would on his own want to grab the city.

This much can be taken for granted: Khrushchev is going to try to take over the city, if not immediately then eventually, and without war if he can avoid it.

It wouldn't be smart for him to risk war to get the city this year —since war could destroy Russia itself—if he thinks, and he probably does, that he can get it in a few more years peacefully anyway. How could he do that?

By trickery, by promises he intends to break, by diminishing bit by bit the Western Allies' willingness to fight for the city until in the end, having made a number of concessions, they make the final one.

For example: 1. He wants the Allied troops out of Berlin. But those 12,500 men, surrounded as they are by 30 to 40 times their number in Communist troops in East Germany, are really not a defensive force at all.

They're only a symbol of the Allies' claim to the legal right to have them there under wartime and postwar agreements with Russia. The main Allied fighting forces are outside the East German borders.

But if the Allies agree to withdraw these symbolic forces, they have yielded on a point they have made a principle in their dispute over Berlin. It would be a big concession.

2. He's threatened to turn over to the East German Communists control of all the routes over which people and supplies, civilian and military, move from the West through East Germany to West Berlin.

In actual practice this wouldn't mean much since 95 per cent of such traffic is civilian and the East Germans control that. The Russians control the remaining 5 per cent which is Allied military.

But agreeing to his—even though Khrushchev guaranteed none of the traffic would be blocked by the East Germans—would be one more concession although it's hard to see what the Allies can do about it if Khrushchev makes good his threat.

The West might not want to fight over dealing with the East Germans on that 5 per cent of military traffic, particularly if Khrushchev promises it would not be interfered with. And so on.

Once the concessions are made —temporarily settling the Berlin dispute — the Communists in a year or so can find some other excuse for tightening the Berlin noose.

The Doctor Says

Allergy Is An Allergen Attack On Your System

By Harold Thomas Hyman, M.D.

Allergy has become a household word despite the fact that not many of us know what it actually means. Perhaps the most graphic way to make its meaning clear is to compare it to a situation in which a policeman clubs the household instead of the burglar. Or a bank guard opens fire on a depositor instead of the holdup man.

In each of these instances, you see, the energy (ergon) that should have been expended in the interest of the defender was used in a manner that was alien to (allos) the purpose for which it was intended. Hence allos-ergon or all-ergy.

ALLERGENS AND THE SHOCK TISSUES AND ORGANS.

What actually happens when a defense force turns on the defenders for whose preservation and protection it was organized and supported? When the skin itches and burns after it's been exposed to a non-irritant plant sap (poison ivy)? Or to popularly used cosmetics, fabrics and the materials of industry (contact dermatitis)?

When the baby's face breaks out (infantile eczema) following its first bottle containing cow's milk? When mom develops hives (urticaria) after eating her first dish of strawberries? When sister's tongue gets so swollen (angioneurotic edema) shot (anaphylactic shock), had to stay home from work a week or so later with hot, painful, swollen joints (serum sickness)?

In each of these fairly frequent happenings, there has been a failure of our body defense system that operates so efficiently when we suffer almost any of the infectious diseases. Worse still, our defense establishment has acted treacherously, even treasonably.

In each instance, an innocent substance, food, drug, float in particle or antiserum, normally met without incident, has been converted into a weapon of offense (allergen). And in each instance the offending allergen has wrought vengeance on some specific body target (shock tissue or organ).

The baby's cheek in infantile eczema (atopic dermatitis); junior's hand and arms in poison ivy (dermatitis venenata); aunt Emma's nose, eyes and bronchial tubes during the hay fever season (vasomotor rhinitis; vernal conjunctivitis and bronchial asthma); the tiny blood vessels in mom's skin during her urticarial attack; And the entire blood vascular system at the moment of pop's episode of anaphylaxis, are all examples.

In another column, we'll discuss the trigger mechanisms that pop off in an allergy.

TIME OF YOUR LIFE BY ARTHUR LORD

for practical advice on the problems of growing older.

FACE FACTS WHEN SIGHT IS INVOLVED

DEAR ARTHUR: I am 69 and have had night vision. What can I do about this? LORRAINE

DEAR LORRAINE: Impaired night vision is a physical condition that can be directly attributed to age. At this time there seems to be little that can be done for this condition.

Extra care should be taken when driving at night. For goodness sake, don't feel ashamed just because your reaction time slows down with night driving. Many people feel embarrassed and inadequate and go on driving to prove their reliability to themselves. This is plain madness. Learn to plan your activities so that you can avoid as much night driving as possible.

DEAR ARTHUR: Although my health is not what it was when I was in my 50s, I manage to get around pretty well, with a trip to the doctor's office about every two weeks. Even though I do not consider myself a serious burden on my children, I know that a man of 73 does cut into the lives of the younger members of the family from time to time. More than once I have suggested moving to a nursing home, but they assured me that they loved to have me stay with them and wouldn't consider the idea of my leaving. Do you think it is my place to simply move out and leave them to their own futures and their own children?

ARCHIBALD
DEAR ARCHIBALD: Only you can assess the genuineness of your children's wish to have you remain with them; and, judging from your letter, there seems no reason to doubt their sincerity. If you would be happier with the companionship of older persons, or feel that the environment of a nursing home would benefit your health, then explain this to your

Some Cash Is a 'Must' When Purchasing a House

By FAYE HENLE

Q — My husband and I would like to buy a house, but his salary is only $85 a week. We'd like a $16,000 or $17,000 house, for which we could borrow $6,000 or $7,000 for a down payment from a relative. We have two children and no debts. What would be the monthly payments on the $10,000 mortgage? How much should we keep and extras cost? Can we afford this? — M. Y.

A — Dear M. Y.: Frankly, I would say you can't afford a house. Anyone who has not been able to save for a down payment should not think of buying a house. I'm against borrowing from relatives, even without knowing how close or how distant. Price you mention is too high for your income, too. The classic rule is that you shouldn't buy a home costing more than 2½ times your annual take-home pay. This puts you in the $11,000 home bracket. My advice: forget house buying till you can save at least $2,500. Try not to buy anything more expensive than a $15,000 home.

Under the new ruling on mortgages issued by the FHA, you can get a $15,000 home for as little a down payment as $450 and a 35 year mortgage with monthly payments of $81.84. But I think you would be better off with a larger down payment and a smaller monthly carrying cost. You'll need at least the $2,500 to pay for the closing costs on your home, to prepay, as needed, taxes and insurance, to pay the movers and to start equipping this home.

Q — I'm over 65. I understand that insurance companies are writing health insurance policies to cover older retired people. How much do these policies cost and what do they cover?—M.M.B.

A — Dear M.M.B.: If you will write to Dept. H, The Health Insurance Institute, 488 Madison Avenue, New York 22, N. Y., requesting their brochure on Health Plans for Over 65's, you'll get all details in chart form. Brochure is free, but you'll find in it best buys for your health insurance dollar.

Q — My husband and I are interested in establishing a trust fund for ourselves and daughter. Please send names of firms and foundations we could contact. — R. A. C.

A — Dear R. A. C.: There is only one person who can set up a trust fund for you and your family and that person is a lawyer. Trusts can be administered by anyone given the power, but most often are handled by banks.

There is excellent free literature available at most banks. If your bank has nothing available, ask them to check with the American Bankers' Assn.

Family-size Fallout Shelter Not Expensive

By ROBERT E. HENNESSEE
DP&R Special Service

WASHINGTON — According to the pollsters, a weighty majority of Americans are convinced that it is only a matter of time before we will have to fight the Russians.

Yet, an insignificant fraction of one per cent of American families is all that have bothered with radiation fallout shelters at or near their homes.

And such a shelter is the only real defense most Americans could have in a nuclear version of a thunder shower.

With the passing years of the nuclear era, scientists have learned more and more about radiation and their findings get more and more hopeful that civilization would not, after all, perish in another all out war.

It was believed, a few years ago, that people would need to stay cooped up inside fallout shelters for months, in some cases a year or more, to escape death from lingering radiation.

But radiation decays faster than was previously believed.

In an all out nuclear war, 75 per cent of the United States land mass would be covered with killing radiation. But in 48 hours, only 25 per cent of the land mass would have killing radiation; after two weeks, only seven per cent; and so on.

Thus the family that is able to children. Otherwise, take them at their word, and settle back to the time of your life growing along with your loved ones.

DEAR JOANNA: You're only 72, my dear. There is no earthly reason why you should give up your violin lessons. Why Fritz Kreisler is 86 and still practices every day.

stay below the surface in a shelter designed to protect against fallout, would have an excellent chance of surviving an atomic and hydrogen attack unless they were in the impact area where there would be little or no chance.

A family-sized fallout shelter need not be expensive. Former Civilian Defense Director Leo Hoegh built his for $212 and some have been built for as little as $30.

Information regarding the design and cost of home shelters is available free by writing to P.O. Box "Home Shelter" Battle Creek, Mich.

Dust Cloud May Be Link To Universe

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Writer

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — An East German astronomer apparently has found an important missing link in the story of the universe.

He detected a great cloud of seeming dust just beyond the Milky Way, the galaxy or great family of billions of stars to which our sun belongs.

This dusty veil seems to be not just gas, but a smoke of heavier atoms also, ranging in size possibly from the particles in cigarette smoke to meteors. Out of this, new stars and planets could condense and come into being.

Astronomers have proposed that such dust clouds may exist in the vast distances between galaxies. This could be the first discovery of an individual cloud. It is relatively near the earth.

Dr. Cuno Hoffmeister of Sonneberg in East Germany described his findings Monday to the International Astronomical Union meeting at the University of California. Other delegates expressed keen interest.

By some theories, new stars and even great galaxies are constantly being formed out of clouds of gases and dust. Small dust clouds have been observed within the Milky Way, and within other galaxies, but not detected before in space between galaxies.

Dr. Hoffmeister found clues to the dust cloud almost accidentally. He was studying stars which form a peculiar halo around the Milky Way.

Ordinarily, a peek in any direction beyond these stars shows many distant galaxies billions of miles away.

But, looking in the direction of the constellation Microscopium, in the Southern Hemisphere, he could see relatively few galaxies. Something seemed to be obscuring the view.

Closer study supported the idea it was a vast dust cloud.

The dust cloud has an irregular shape, and is perhaps 25,000 light years, or some 150,000 trillion miles, wide. Its distance from us cannot be determined yet, but presumably it is some two million light years away. It could contain such chemical elements as sodium, calcium and heavier atoms.

Dr. Hoffmeister first detected it in 1959 when working at the Boyden Observatory near Bloemfontein in South Africa, and has carried on analyses since then.

Pair Will Have Head Start On Raising Family

SAN LEANDRO, Calif. (AP)—A Navy widower with 10 children and a widow with eight of her own, who met a month ago, have set a wedding date of Sept. 9 in the Carmel Mission on the central California coast.

The couple is Francis Louis Beardsley, a Navy chief warrant officer, and Helen North, 31, of San Leandro. Beardsley and his children live in Carmel. He is stationed at the Navy postgraduate school in Monterey.

Mrs. North said a relative told her of Beardsley's loss. Her husband had died at about the same time. She began a correspondence with Beardsley which culminated in a dinner date about a month ago. He gave her a diamond ring a week later.

Mrs. North said all 18 children "think it's wonderful."

They range in age from her Teresa, 1, to his Michael, 17. Carpenters are doubling the size of Beardsley's Carmel home, which has only five rooms and three baths.

Crashed Plane May Have To Be Hauled Out

HARRISON, Ark. (AP) — A single-engine plane which was crash landed in an Ozark mountain clearing Sunday probably will have to be dismantled and hauled overland.

Jay Smith, manager of the Harrison airport said Monday it was impossible for the plane to take off from the 800 foot long field.

Matt Howard, 33, Dallas, Tex., architect, brought the plane in after its engine quit at 7,000 feet. Howard and his two passengers, Mr. and Mrs. Frank D. Weaver of Dallas, escaped injury.

Howard said he did not know why the motor stopped. He said he was not out of gas.

The clearing is about two miles from the nearest dirt road and 15 miles from a paved road.

Bob Newhart Slated For Own Program

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Eighteen months ago nobody had ever heard of Bob Newhart, comedian. Next month "The Bob Newhart Show" bows in on the NBC network, which automatically makes the young monologist the fastest-moving, the bravest or perhaps the most foolhardy—performer of the approaching television season.

Over the years the mortality rate of the "stand-up" comedian has been frighteningly high. Last season there was only one left in weekly TV, Red Skelton.

The stand-up comedians, of course, are still working, but many of them are making only occasional appearances on television.

Newhart apparently is neither frightened nor deterred by the experiences of other comedians who, after a few seasons, have retired from weekly comedy programs to nurse bad cases of over-exposure.

"The closest analogy I can think of is baseball," explained the quiet-spoken, rather shy young man. "If you're a good pitcher, you want to play in the major league. You're not content with sand lots or the minors. In show business today, television is the major leagues."

Besides that, Newhart believes that TV, more than any other place, is right for his style of comedy.

"I'm not a broad comedian," he explained, "and I find that in television, with the camera up close, I can do little things that are lost on a night club floor or on a stage. I found that I wasn't getting laughs when I was doing a concert tour because the people sitting in the 12th or the 20th rows could not see those little things, and I had to make everything larger and more exaggerated."

He also believes that, by having a flexible format for the weekly show, he can avoid the fatal rut of predictability.

"The whole basis for comedy is unpredictability," he continued. "So one week we may do two monologues and follow up the next week with a comedy sketch, then maybe a show with a guest star, and after that a musical."

Newhart believes that as time goes on the viewing public will

Indian Woman, 111, Dies On Reservation

EUREKA, Calif. (AP) — Annie Randall Shoemaker, Hoopa Indian, died Monday on the reservation where she was born.

Mrs. Shoemaker was 111 years old.

She had made some allowances for its entertainers. "There just isn't enough material, particularly comedy material, to supply the enormous demand," Newhart said earnestly. "And I just think the public is going to have to settle for less. It must get over the idea that its entertainers must be able to knock the audience out of its chairs every week."

Youngster Is Ready For Navy Enlistment

VENTURA, Calif. (AP) — Harvey Lozano, not quite 16, walked into the Navy induction office and told a startled recruiter: "I heard the President ask for men, and I'm ready."

Chief Boatwain's Mate Guy W. Bennett, head recruiter, gave Harvey an armful of Navy pamphlets and promised to advise the President that Harvey was ready.

"I want to enlist for as long as you need me and I'll go anywhere they need me," Harvey said.

Bennett promised to keep Harvey in mind, adding: "You're never too young to be patriotic."

Stokes Benefit Tonight

Game Set to Help Raise Money For Paralyzed Player

MONTICELLO, N.Y. (AP)—The best in professional basketball tonight will help Jack Twyman keep another pledge to ailing Maurice Stokes.

Bob Cousy, Bill Russell, Wilt Chamberlain, Dolph Schayes, Bob Pettit and many more will compete on a concrete, outdoor court in a Stokes benefit game. Its aim is to help raise money for continuing treatment of Stokes, former Cincinnati Royals star who was paralyzed with encephalitis—a brain ailment — 3 1/2 years ago and still cannot walk.

Red Auerbach of the Boston Celtics will coach the Eastern team and Paul Seymour of the St. Louis Hawks the West in the All-Star game, which was washed out Monday night by an all-day rain in the Catskills.

The coaches and the players, who paid their way here for the privilege of helping, figure it's the least they can do for the 6-7, one-time 250-pounder, who by now probably would have ranked as one of the greats of basketball.

"They tell me about the weight he lost," said Carl Braun, former New York Knicks coach and now a backcourt player with the Celtics.

"I haven't seen him but it's hard to believe. If this hadn't happened, I think he and Elgin Baylor would be 1-2 as the greatest pound-for-pound players in the game."

Since he was stricken in the 1957-58 National Basketball Association season, Stokes has been a patient at Christ Hospital in Cincinnati.

Teammate Twyman, one of the top NBA scorers, has been his legal guardian and has masterminded the financial flow that gives him the medical help he needs. This year, a benefit show in Stokes' hometown of Pittsburgh flopped.

"We need the money from this game more than ever," Twyman said.

"Let the people know they can mail contributions to Stokes at the hospital. The doctors hope he may walk some day. When he recovers his reflexes will be slower. But he has determination."

In the last 40 months, Stokes has come a long way. First, to learn again to move his hands. Then to speak. He occasionally is out of bed, but in a wheelchair.

Maurice, who starred at St. Francis (Pa.) before joining the Royals, had hoped to make the trip here but doctors wouldn't permit it.

"He was pretty put out," Twyman said. "But I guarantee, he'll be here next year."

A Herculean eight-game program over a six-day stretch is the next test for the Cincinnati Reds, leading the National League by three games after a hectic period of playing ring-around-a-rose for first place with the Los Angeles Dodgers.

The Reds, who had fallen 2½ games back last week in their season-long battle with the Dodgers for the top rung, begin their crucial period at home tonight

Can Record Backfire On New York?

DETROIT (AP) — Supposin' Roger Maris and-or Mickey Mantle should reach the 50-homer mark sometime next month in their assault on Babe Ruth's record of 60.

What'll be the effect on the American League pennant race? Can it backfire on the New York Yankees?

"I don't know, I can't be sure," said Manager Bob Scheffing, whose Detroit Tigers are chasing Maris, Mantle and the rest of the Yankees. "It's bound to bother them some. It may even hurt the Yankees but I can't say."

"Wouldn't it be something if both of them hit 65 an dthe Yankees finished second?"

Pressure has done funny things to players who've come close to the Babe's mark. Ask Hank Greenberg or Jimmy Fox. Each missed the magic 60th homer by two. But neither was on a team scrambling for a pennant.

"I had Steve Bilko out in the Coast League in '56 and he was trying to hit 60," Scheffing recalled. "He got to 55 and I'll bet he didn't hit another in his last 10 games. The club record was 56 and he didn't even reach that and we already had won the pennant."

"He was trying so hard the ball just was popped up or hit into the ground."

The next year Bilko did reach 56, but failed to make it to 60.

"I can't predict how it will affect Maris and Mantle if they get near to Ruth, but let's face it, most of the recent home run champions haven't been on the team that's won the pennant," said Scheffing.

In the 33 seasons since Ruth established the big record, only nine champions or co-champions made it into the World Series.

Driving, Playing Flute Is Expensive

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y. (AP) — David Waterhouse, 18, of Stamford, Ont., paid a $35 fine in city court Monday. Police said he had been playing a flute while driving an automobile in heavy traffic. A companion in the front seat was steering the car.

Trans-Miss. Resumes

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Play resumes today in the 36-hole qualifying test for the 58th men's Trans-Mississippi Golf Association Championship with Arkansas golfer R. H. Sikes holding a one-stroke lead through Monday's initial 18 holes.

Sikes, the National Public Links titleholder from the University of Arkansas had a 5-under-par 33-33—66 in the opening round to edge Glen Fowler of the host Twin Hills Country Club course who shot a 34-33—67.

Two strokes back of Fowler was Jim Wright, Enid, Okla., with a 34-35—69.

with a doubleheader against the third-place San Francisco Giants. The sizzling Giants, who have won 10 of their last 12, will stay at Crosley Field for games Wednesday and Thursday, then the Dodgers will move in for a showdown four-game set in the final meeting of the year between the pennant contenders.

Meanwhile, Roger Maris and Mickey Mantle will continue their assault on Babe Ruth's home run record of 60 in 1927 as the American League leading New York Yankees invade Los Angeles for a three-game set with the Angels.

The Yankees lead the second-place Detroit Tigers by three games and the Baltimore Orioles by 11. The Orioles' game at Washington Monday — the only one scheduled in the majors — was postponed because of wet grounds.

Reds' Manager Fred Hutchinson admits the string of games with the Giants and Dodgers will pose a pitching problem and he may have to throw in rookie Ken Hunt and-or sore-shouldered Jim Maloney. "I'll have to put someone in some place," moaned Hutchinson.

The regular rotation recently has consisted of Joey Jay, Bob Purkey, Jim O'Toole and Ken Johnson. Purkey (14-7) and Johnson (4-1) figure to go tonight against the Giants' Mike McCormick (9-12) and either Sam Jones (7-7) or Billy O'Dell (4-4).

The Dodgers, who lost seven straight and tumbled to second while the Reds were taking six of seven, meet the St. Louis Cardinals before going on to Cincinnati, with rumors beginning to circulate that Walter Alston's job is in jeopardy.

Club owner Walter O'Malley denied that Monday, however, saying: "Alston doesn't need a note of confidence. But maybe the team does. If so, here it is. A big personal vote for the Dodgers, who are tied for first place in the loss column."

The Reds, who have played and won six more games than Los Angeles, have the same number of losses as the Dodgers, 47. The Yankees, three games up on the Tigers in both columns, will send Bill Stafford (10-6) against the Angels' Ken McBride (9-10) tonight.

Despite the close pennant races most eyes will be riveted to Maris and Mantle, who have hit 49 and 46 homers, respectively. Maris is 10 games ahead of Ruth's pace and Mantle is eight games in front with the Angels' Wrigley Field presenting a friendly target. The major league mark for most home runs at one park in a single season is within reach at tightly boxed Wrigley Field where 177 homers have been hit, and 25 games still remain to be played. The record is 219 at Cincinnati in 1957.

Too Many Ornaments Left On Lady's Yard

OCEAN CITY, N.J. (AP)—Mrs. Herbert M. Birch telephoned police headquarters Monday and said she had some ornaments on her lawn.

"That's nice," said the officer. "No, it isn't," she said. "They don't belong to me and I want you to come and take them away."

Police found 13 imitation ducks, 7 flamingoes, a statue of a boy eating cherries, a plastic frog, a ceramic black cat, two ornamental wheelbarrows filled with flowers and a statue of a jockey.

Police carted the ducks and flamingoes, mostly made of concrete, and the other stuff off to their warehouse. Detectives started an investigation.

Cravath Is Wilting From Baseball Lore

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — At the moment baseball's forgotten man is Clifford Cravath (Gavvy, Wooden Shoes, Cactus) Cravath.

It was Cravath's home run record of 24 which Babe Ruth broke when he hit 29 in 1919. Cravath, an outfielder for the Philadelphia Nationals, led the league in home runs five times, and this in the era of the dead ball and marvelous pitchers. His major league record came in 1915 when the Phillies won the pennant and lost to Boston in the World Series.

Cravath, a rumbling, rotund 200-plus heavyweight, picked up nicknames by the dozen, but in view of the later homer heroics by Ruth, Cactus and his two dozen blasts faded into the mass of baseball's honored statistics.

Almost faded, that is.

One fellow remembers Cravath ever so vividly. He's our own Gallatin (Tenn.) squash, Hub Perdue, a pitching star for the Boston Braves while Gavvy was the league's home run leader.

"Remember Cravath?" chuckled Perdue, when we asked about the oldtime Philly ace. "Sure I do. He couldn't hit a curve ball. But brother you'd better watch where you put that fast one when he was up there. If you weren't awfully careful, he'd lose it for you."

"I remember a lot of things about Cravath. One thing I'll never forget is the size of his bat. "It was as big as a fence post, but when he swung it, it swished like a fly rod!"

It seems curious that a man with the colorful nicknames associated with Cravath could have wilted from baseball lore, despite the glare of Ruth's home run barrage.

"Well, Gavvy didn't have a lot to say. You might look at it this way. He let that bat do his talking. Of course, the nicknames were tagged by various people. He had enormous feet and was pretty slow. That's where 'Wooden Shoes' came from."

The "Gavvy" apparently is from his correct name—Gravatt. Why he changed it to Cravath is just about anybody's guess. But, by whatever name he chose, Cactus was the National League homer leader in 1913 (19), 1914 (19), 1915 (24), 1918 (8) and 1919 (12).

In his record season, Cravath drew some criticism for his homers because of the small park in Philadelphia. One writer pointed out that 18 of his first 21 were hit in the Philly park.

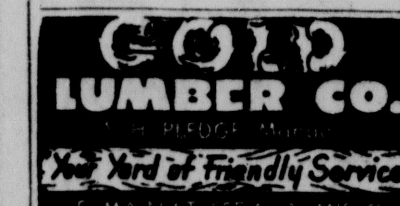

"Well, I reckon it was pretty small," Perdue recalled, "but Gavvy was a fine hitter anywhere."

In the midst of his record of 24 homers in 1915, the right hand hitting Cravath tied a major league mark by socking four consecutive doubles in one game. He left the majors in 1920 after serving as Philly manager for half of the '19 campaign and all of 1920.

Armed Services To Hire 10,000 Extra Workers

WASHINGTON (AP)—As part of the U.S. defense buildup, the armed services have been authorized to hire an extra 10,000 civilian workers.

The authorization, granted Monday by the Defense Department, will increase the military's non-uniformed manpower from 1,040,000 to 1,050,000. Further increases in the number of civilian employees are under consideration, the Pentagon said without elaboration.

The additional civilian employees will supplement President Kennedy's request to add 133,000 to the regular military services and for authority to call up 250,000 reserves to face the Soviet menace.

Morse Words Are Refuted By Cardinal

NEW YORK (AP) — Francis Cardinal Spellman says there was no truth in a charge by Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., that top-ranking Catholic clergy are opposed to improving public schools.

The cardinal, Roman Catholic archbishop of New York, said Morse made the statement in a speech Aug. 14.

In a reply Monday, Cardinal Spellman said: "We do not, as he alleges, look upon them (public schools) as 'competitors,' but as partners in the great work of educating America's children. We recognize their essential place in American life."

"But we are also deeply concerned for the protection of our Catholic schools. We do not believe that the best interests of this nation can best be served by making public school education a monopoly."

The cardinal said public school education would eventually become a monopoly under the Kennedy administration proposal, backed by Morse, to aid only public schools with federal funds.

That proposal "is actually not intentionally discriminatory, unwittingly anti-Catholic, and indirectly subversive of all private education," he said.

Morse, in his speech in Philadelphia at the annual convention of the American Federation of Teachers, accused the Catholic hierarchy of seeking to block the "legislative aims of a majority of our people through pressure tactics."

Ann Landers Answers Your Problems

Dear Ann Landers: We live in the mountains and it gets chilly here evenings during the summer months. Last night I asked my husband if he would go downstairs and bring up some logs so we could have a little fire in the fireplace. He told me to get the logs myself. The logs are quite heavy and I am expecting a baby in a couple months. My feelings were hurt and I told him so.

He claims pregnancy is not a sickness and that I am in better health than he is. He also said that too many women use pregnancy as an excuse to get out of doing things. He keeps bringing up his mother who had eight children and never saw the inside of a hospital. What can I say to him? — J.

Dear J: Pregnancy is not a disease but an expectant mother should not be hauling and lifting logs for the fireplace. Tell your husband if he wishes to be clued in on the dangers involved he can telephone your doctor.

Dear Ann Landers: I've been going with a man for three years and I'm beginning to think that maybe what I considered coincidental is something he has worked out on purpose.

I keep a diary and this is the history: My birthday 1959: He went to see his sister. (No gift).

Valentine's Day 1959: He forgot. Christmas 1959: He went to visit his mother. (No gift). My birthday 1960: He lost everything in a poker game.

Proposal Is Ready For Car Workers

DETROIT (AP) —General Motors Corp. was ready to submit an economic proposal to the United Auto Workers Union today after nearly eight weeks of bargaining on a new labor contract.

The Ford Motor Co. and Chrysler Corp. also were believed to have proposals, covering wage and fringe benefits, drawn up for presentation—possibly today.

The Big Three proposals presumably are substantially the same. The companies negotiate separately with the UAW but they keep each other informed on the progress of bargaining and their thinking about a pattern settlement in the auto industry. All have said it should not be inflationary.

GM timed its proposal for presentation to the UAW bargaining team on the same day the union was scheduled to reply to American Motors Corp.'s package offer, which includes a profit-sharing plan. AMC, which plays a lone role in dealing with UAW, made its surprise offer July 28.

Earl R. Bramblett, GM's director of labor relations, said he had not been in consultation with AMC's negotiators.

He said that GM negotiations were following a normal pattern with the company making an offer nine days before contract expiration.

Big Three contracts expire Aug. 31. The AMC contract runs out a week later.

Besides profit-sharing, AMC has offered its 23,000 hourly employees a seven-cent wage increase annually over the next three years. In exchange it proposed scrapping the annual improvement factor wage increase and cost of living escalator in the present contract.

The UAW termed the AMC package unacceptable but said it offered a basis for negotiations. The union did not call a strike vote at AMC as it did at the Big Three plants.

The UAW reported votes of GM, Ford and Chrysler workers were running from 80 to 98 per cent in favor of a strike if necessary to back up the union's demands. The votes are to be completed this week. The UAW Executive Board will meet next Tuesday to discuss strategy and possibly pick one of the Big Three as a strike target.

GM, Ford and Chrysler last month rejected the over-all bargaining goals of the union but left the way open for give and take on specific demands.

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

President Kennedy has restored the old-fashioned rocking chair to social favor, but the business world owes a greater debt to President Thomas Jefferson. He invented the swivel chair.

You are more likely to see a pink elephant than a purple cow. The only four-legged purple animal on earth is the blebok, a small South African antelope.

Sailors used to be little more than seagoing bums, but today ordinary seamen on U.S. merchant ships get a minimum of $280 a month, a four-week vacation, free board and bed, medical care and pensions.

Americans will do anything to get fresh air. The nation now has more than 4,700 drive-in theaters.

The common cold is the biggest cause of absenteeism in industry at estimated annual cost of $5 billion.

The Roman emperor, Augustus Caesar, was so afraid of the shuffles that in winter he wore the equivalent of an overcoat, four waistcoats, a sweater and a stomacher.

Our quotable notables: "A bank," said poet Robert Frost, "is a place where they lend you an umbrella in fair weather and ask for it back again when it begins to rain."

It isn't how you begin, it's how you end. Texas oilman Hugh Roy Cullen's first gift to charity—a $5 check to the Salvation Army—bounced for lack of funds. Later Cullen gave $160 million to philanthropic causes.

A filling station here has an emergency truck that bears this sign: "Call us at any hour. We're always on our toes."

Barbering is one of the oldest careers. Relics indicate the Egyptian nobility and priesthood patronized barbers 6,000 years ago. There are more than 20 mentions of barbering in the Bible.

Wisecrack of the week: "The big trouble with success nowadays," says singer Diahann Carroll, "is that its formula is often the same as the one for a nervous breakdown."

Fires took 11,350 lives in 1960, and annual fire losses have exceeded $1 billion four years in a row.

The world's laziest housewife is the queen bee. She never does a lick of work, and doesn't even have to prepare her own meals. Her loyal helpers feed her day and night. But the queen does have one royal chore: she has to lay up to 3,000 eggs a day.

No wonder we're getting short of water. The average American—whether he's on the water wagon or not—uses about 3½ million gallons in his lifetime.

LONDON (AP)—Pravda said today Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson "fraternized with and embraced political rogues and adventurers" on his West Berlin visit.

The Soviet communist party organ, quoted by Tass, declared: "The vice president tried to drag Burgomaster Willy Brandt (the West Berlin mayor) by the ears out of his own stinking bog of the 'front line city' in which he had started to choke."

Story Behind Exhibits

Antique, Hobby Display Always Fascinating One

One of the most fascinating places on the Fair grounds is the antique and hobby display, for there are always interesting stories behind the exhibits which are located in a building at the south end of the grounds in which, also, is the stamp collections. There are, of course, stories behind the stamps, too.

In the antique exhibit is a premium book of the Fifth Annual Missouri State Fair held at Georgetown in September, 1860, entered by Mrs. William Reid, 2012 West 14th. This fair lasted four days and a list of the townships are given. The price of admission is 25 cents for a footman; man and horse, 25 cents; one buggy and contents, 50 cents; a two horse buggy and contents, $1.00; and a wagon loaded with melons $1 per day, payment in advance. A sheet spun and woven in 1892 is exhibited by Mrs. John Potter, Kings City.

Tools used to make spokes for wagons and buggies are also on exhibit, and a uniform of the Knights Ancient Order of United Workers, which hasn't been worn since 1906, has a hat, a cap, belt and sword.

There is a wood washer over 100 years old and dolls, beautifully dressed, from 50 to 100 years old. Some had the bodies rebuilt but the heads are original. One of the costumes is an 1850 style and another 1870. The costumes were handmade by Mrs. Emma Dick, Sedalia.

A hand painted china foot warmer, into which the people of that day put hot water and took along to church with them, was shown.

A glass vase, handpainted by Mary Gregory, is very rare, because there are few left, for they were painted only by her and at her death there were no more ever made. Reproductions were not too successful. She always painted children. Another rare item is a glass banana dish.

Martin Goss of Sedalia has on display some very old lamps, two of them in which whale oil was burned. One lamp has a picture of Columbus, and the sweetest lamp is another thing that is very rare. In the lamp display is an old German hanging lamp more than 200 years old.

Among other exhibits in the building is a wonderful display of dolls from foreign countries by Susan Spangler of Clinton, who also has a fine rock display.

A large picture of two Siamese cats made entirely of seeds, watermelon, cantaloupe, cucumber, rice, popcorn and various other seeds.

Dean Breshears, 14, of Warsaw has a beautiful hand carved chess set entered. Several rugs with exquisitely blended colors

Fair Glad Show Entries Double Over Last Year

The Gladiolus Show at the Missouri State Fair Floriculture Exhibit opened the 1961 events with entries nearly double the number of last year's show, according to Superintendent Mrs. Wilford Ackers of Sedalia.

Rosettes, special awards, were received by Mrs. Helen McNew, 1820 East Ninth, Sedalia, for the best arrangement selected from blue ribbon winners and by Bill Harshman, Rockport, Ill., for the Grand Champion — 3 Spike and the Grand Champion Spike. The Champion Second Day Rosette will be awarded on Sunday for the gladiolus holding up the best on the second day.

Chairman of the Gladiolus Show was Harry L. Semler of Kansas City, Mo. Judges included Mr. M. Trover, also of Kansas City; J. O. Mills, Merriam, Kans.; and Mrs. Browne Y. Edelen, 1711 West Tenth, Sedalia.

Farm Crops, Seed Entries At Increase

Fully 20 per cent more farm crop and seed entries than last year were crowded into the agriculture tent at the Missouri State Fair. Officials of the crops and seeds exhibits are looking forward to next year when their entries will be housed in a new building slated to be completed on the site of the present tent. The old agriculture building was condemned several years ago.

Hybrid corn has replaced open-pollinated corn varieties for commercial corn production for many years. However, there were many more exhibitors of open-pollinated corn than hybrid corn at the fair.

An interesting exhibit of sugar beets grown in Missouri was shown in connection with the crops and seed competition. The sugar beet is new to Missouri and agriculture experts think the sugar beet could be a commercially profitable crop for Missouri's agricultural industry. The sugar beet exhibit was prepared by the Missouri Beet Growers Development Association and the University of Missouri.

Reflect Good Growth Year

Early season rainfall and generally cool temperatures combined to make the vegetable exhibits at the Missouri State Fair exceptionally good. Superintendent H. G. Swartwout, University of Missouri, said that the quality of tomato, pepper, and egg plants is very good and that the size and appearance of the onions exhibited would rate excellent.

Fair visitors were very interested in a 3 pound tomato which was on display. Great interest was shown in a display of 15 different varieties of squash shown by the Vegetables Growers Association of Missouri. Both summer and winter varieties were shown.

4-H Exhibit Of Swine Is Biggest Yet

A 44 per cent increase in entries swelled the 4-H swine exhibit on opening day of the Missouri State Fair. Leland Tribble, Professor of Animal Husbandry, University of Missouri, judged the 180 entries from six major breeds.

Champion barrow of the show was a Hampshire, shown by Sam Rowe, Silex, Mo. The prize animal was a light weight barrow tipping the scales at 203 pounds. A Spotted Poland China barrow was Reserve Champion. Mary Raasch, Norborne, Mo., showed the 196 pound light weight barrow. Both the champion and reserve champion were top animals in their individual breed competitions.

Gold, silver and bronze ribbons were awarded. Gold ribbon winners competed against each other for first, second and third place awards.

Grows Each Year

Archaeology Exhibit Is In the Women's Building

The archaeology exhibit at the Missouri State Fair grows each year in importance and this year something that is new and different are the two dioramas of archaeology reproduced in miniature, located in the Woman's Building.

One is a rock shelter at St. Francois, of the Helbers Cave, investigated and dug in 1941-42. This is an authentic representation with accompanying charts and maps figures of Indians.

It depicts their life and native moss was dyed for the foliage on the trees. In front are two trees, one a walnut with even the tiny walnuts on it, and at the bottom of the rock which forms the cave is a stream of water, with an Indian man as he has caught a fish, his wife in the cave above him looking on.

Inside the cave is an Indian man making arrows, with tiny
